AI Automation & Digital Operations | Python | APIs | WordPress &
WooCommerce | IT Support
L'Hospitalet de Llobregat, Catalonia, Spain

Summary

IT & Digital Operations professional focused on AI-assisted automation, e-commerce and technical problem solving. I combine a background in IT support, hardware and software troubleshooting with hands-on experience building digital solutions using AI, Python, APIs, WordPress and WooCommerce. One of my main projects involved managing and automating an e-commerce catalogue with 800+ products, while developing Python-based workflows to collect, process, validate and synchronize product information from multiple external sources. My work includes:

- AI-assisted software development
- Workflow and business process automation
- Python automation
- REST API integration
- Web scraping and data extraction
- Data processing and validation
- WordPress & WooCommerce
- E-commerce catalogue automation
- Product and metadata management
- AI-assisted content generation
- Website development and maintenance
- Technical troubleshooting and IT support

I enjoy taking repetitive or inefficient processes, understanding how they work and finding ways to automate, simplify and improve them using technology and AI. I am particularly interested in opportunities involving AI automation, digital operations, e-commerce, technical/product support and AI-enabled workflows, preferably in remote or part-time environments. I also continue developing my own web, automation and AI-assisted software projects, combining practical IT knowledge with modern AI tools to build solutions that solve real business problems.
